

Here is a selection of previous arts and crafts I have created, which I will take inspiration from when selling similar items on my website. I may also consider putting other peoples art up on the website that I plan to create, if it would work best for them and my audience. These arts and crafts are quite different from each other so would be listed for sale in separate sections from one another. For example, a section for paintings, a section for pen or pencil drawings, a section for clothing and accessories and a section for jewellery etc.
